tremely happy together.

But when they had pursued this mode of life for about five years, a misfortune befel them. A theft having been committed in a house which they had visited in the morning, Pawleska was suspected and arrested, and the blind man was left once more alone. But, instead of resuming his former habits, he now disappeared altogether; and, this circumstance causing the suspicion to extend to him, the girl was brought before the magistrate to be interrogated with regard to his probable place of concealment.

The child called him father, and they were ex-

"Do you know where Michel is?" inquired the magistrate.

"He is dead!" replied she, shedding a torrent

As the girl had been shut up for three days without any means of obtaining information from without, this answer, together with her unfeigned distress, naturally excited considerable

"Who told you he was dead ?" they inquired.

"Nobody."
"Then how can you know it?"

"I saw him killed!"

"But you have never been out of the prison! "But I saw it, nevertheless!"

"But how was that possible? Explain what "I cannot. All I can say is, that I saw him

"When was he killed, and how?"

"It was the night I was arrested."

"That cannot be; he was alive when you were seized." "Yes, he was; he was killed one hour after that; they stabbed him with a knife!"

"Where were you then?" "I can't tell, but I saw it." The confidence with which the girl asserted what seemed to her hearers impossible and absurd, disposed them to imagine that she was really either insane or pretending to be so; so, leaving Michel aside, they proceeded to interrogate her about the robbery, asking her if she was guilty.

"Oh no!" she answered.

"Then how came the property to be found about you?" "I don't know; I saw nothing but the murder." But there are no grounds for supposing that Michel is dead; his body has not been found.'

"It is in the aqueduct."
"And do you know who slew him?"

"Yes; it is a woman. Michel was walking very slowly after I was taken from him. A wo-man came behind him with a large kitchen knife, but he heard her, and turned round; and then the woman flung a piece of gray stuff over his head and struck him repeatedly with the knife. The gray stuff was much stained with the blood Michel fell at the eighth blow, and the woman dragged the body to the aqueduct, and let it fall in without ever lifting the stuff, which stuck to

As it was easy to verify these latter assertions they despatched people to the spot; and there the body was found, with the piece of stuff over his head, exactly as she had described. But when they asked her how she knew all this, she could only answer, "I don't know."
"But you know who killed him?"

"Not exactly; it is the same woman that put out his eyes; but, perhaps, he will tell me her name to-night; and if he does I will tell it to you."

"Who do you mean by he?"
"Why, Michel, to be sure!"

was now able to tell them the name of the assas-

"But stay," said the magistrate, "did Michel never tell you, when he was alive, how he lost his sight?" "No; but the morning before I was arrested he promised me to do so; and that was the cause of his death." "How could that be?"

" Last night Michel came to me, and he pointed to the man hidden behind the scaffolding, on which he and I had been sitting. He showed me the man listening to us, when he said, 'I'll tell you all about that to-night;' and then the man

"Do you know the name of this man?" "It is Luck; he went afterwards to a broad street that leads down to the barbor, and he entered the third house on the right."

"What is the name of the street?" don't know, but the house is one story lower than the adjoining ones. Luck told Catherine what he had heard, and she proposed to him to assassinate Michel, but he refused, saying, It tion or any crisis that may arise in the civil was bad enough to have burnt out his eyes fifteen years before, whilst he was asleep at your door, and to have kidnapped him into the country. Then I went in to ask charity, and Catherine put a piece of plate into my pocket, that I might be arrested; then she hid herself behind the aqueduct to wait for Michel, and she killed him." "But, since you say all this, why did you keep the plate! Why didn't you give information?

"But what should induce Catherine to do this?

"Michel was her husband, and she had forsaken him to come to Odessa and marry again. One night, fifteen years ago, she saw Michel, who had come to see her. She slipped hastily into her house, and Michel, who thought she had not seen him, lay down at her watch; but he fell asleep, and then Luck burnt out his eyes, and carried him to a distance."

"And is it Michel who has told you this ?" "Yes; he came very pale and covered with blood, and he took me by the hand and showed me all this with his fingers.

Upon this, Luck and Catharine were arrested. and it was ascertained that she had actually been married to Michel in the year 1819, at Kherson. They at first denied the accusation; but Pawleska insisted, and they subsequently confessed the When they communicated the circumstances of the confession to Pawleska, she said : "I was told it last night." This affair naturally excited great interest, and people all round the neighborhood hastened into the city to learn the sentence.

Soda Water in the Market-House!

HALL'S SODA WATER Is equal to the best manufactured in the District of Columbia, as thousands would willingly certify. His stand is on the south side of the Eastern Market house—fountain, glasses, sirups, and ice pure, fresh, and abundant; and he is always ready when estiled. "At rosy morn, at suitry noon, or dewey eve," this is the refreshing drink for the temperate and healthy. Be sure to look for HALL'S STAND. It is easily found, and, "when found, make a note on it," as Captain Cuttle says.

may 29—eolm TO THE WHIGS OF THE UNION.

The following Address is eloquent in its truthfulness and fervent devotion to the interests of the Whig party and of the nation. It should be read and well remembered by every Whig of our broad land, and should guide him to duty and a certain triumph. How admirable is its spirit, when compared with the "rule or union" deelarations unwisely made by some of our erring friends. If the lesson inculcated by this Address shall sink deep into the hearts of the men of our party, their success will be certain. Honor to the Whigs of Pennsylvania, from whom it has

Address of the Whig State Central Com-mittee.

The Whigs of Pennsylvania, profoundly sensible of the importance of the great political strug-gle they are about to enter, beg leave respect-fully to submit, through their State central com-mittee, to their fellow-Whigs of the Union, a statement of their position, and their reasons for maintaining it.

As Pennsylvania has never yet cast her electoral vote in vain, and as she is likely to become, as heretofore, the arbiter of the contest, and, of consequence, the battle-ground, it is proper for who have the best means to know the ground and its circumstances to impart their knowledge candidly and honestly to their breth ren of the same faith and party.

The history of the past fully establishes the falsity of the proposition that republics are ungrateful. The memories of Washington, Jackson, Harrison, and Taylor teach us that the American republic has never yet been ungrateful to those who have led her armies, defended her rights, and adorned her name with an imperishable renown. This is in accordance with the nature of man-in accordance with a noble and generous impulse. And as long as human hearts are constituted as now, the man who has denied himself the comforts of home-foregone the pleasures of wealth-invested the strength of his body and the powers of his mind-risked health and life in the defence of his country, will always receive, at the hands of his fellow-citizens, the highest earthly honors and rewards, when the opportunity offers to confer them.

In fidelity to the constitution, and in gratitude to its defenders, Pennsylvania acknowledges no superior. Within the broad limits of this great democratic empire there is to be found no com-monwealth more loyal and patriotic. And while it is very certain that no man who is not true to the constitution in all its parts and the Union in its integrity can stand even the shadow of a chance to obtain her electoral vote, it is equally certain that no man, Whig or Democrat, has so much the confidence and affection of her people as Winfield Scott. Our adversaries know this. and most earnestly and bitterly deprecate his nomination. But we are aware that, if they had the good fortune to possess such a can-didate, there would be no divided counsels among them in regard to his nomination. If General Scott belonged to the ranks of the enemy, instead of being an honest, brave, and reliable Whig, the first Baltimore Convention would nominate hi by acclamation.

Shall we be less wise than our adversaries Shall we sacrifice the victory that stretches out before us? Shall we suffer the Whig banner to trail again in defeat, and the Capitol of the nation to be once more entirely given up to those whose principles are, in our opinion, opposed to its prosperity and its greatness? The decision rests with the Whig National Convention.

And while we pledge ourselves to an honest, zealous, and enthusiastic support of the nomine of that Convention, whoever he may be-for we are accustomed to look above the standard-beare to the standard-we most kindly and earnestly entreat our fellow-Whigs to remember that in Pennsylvania-the battle-ground-the name of Scott is as invincible as on the battle-fields of Mexico. But though he is the choice of her 200,000 Whigs, and of thousands of her Democrats, we will leave unmade no effort, however fruitless, and unexerted no influence, however barren of victory, in behalf of either of his great competi-Our only inquiries shall be-Is he a Whig : Is he true to the constitution?

Of Millard Fillmore, the patriotic and distinguished gentleman who now so creditably occu-pies the loftiest official position on the earth, as Whigs we are proud.

Of Daniel Webster, whose fame is not even lim-"Why, Michel, to be sure!"

His name shall be handed down st and a heritage to our

But even for these great and glorious Whigs we interrupted by violent nervous shocks, which per- are unwilling to hazard the triumph of our great and more glorious principles. For that we On the ensuing day, the moment she was ceive to be of infinitely more consequence than the brough thefore the judge, she declared that she was now able to tell them the name of the assas- or distinguished he may be. Small indeed becomes the destiny of the individual in comparison with the welfare of the republic.

With Winfield Scott, the Whigs of the United States can achieve a certain and easy victory. With any other candidate it might be considered doubtful, if not desperate-not because the Whig party, as a national party, is the weaker, but be cause, in the present nicely-balanced condition of parties, it is difficult for either to be victorious in two successive contests. We repeat, certain and easy victory. For the people believe, with a unanimity unprecedented, that he cannot be beaten. And this state of the public mind insures the result, as any one knows who is at all skilled in political events.

And who shall say that Winfield Scott is not fit for the high station to which we would elevate him? Has any single important act of his life evinced a want of ability? Who shall say that the commanding genius which has raised his name to the loftiest rank among the immortal names of earth will not prove equal to any posiaffairs of men? Do the humble battlements of Vera Cruz, the stormed heights of the Mexican mountains, or the American flag waving in triumph over a conquered empire, attest this want of ability? We leave history and fame to answer.

In view of the important contest we are about to enter, and for the sake of the cherished principles for which we have so long contended, side by side, under one banner, and with one battle-But I didn't see it then. Michel showed it cry, the Whigs of Pennsylvania call upon the Whigs of the United States (for they know neither North nor South) to unite with them in another mighty and successful effort to overthrow again and forever the pernicious principles of their

CONSUMPTION.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND SORENESS OF THE BODY, take the CHERRY PECTORAL on going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night.

FOR A COLD AND COUGH, take it morning, noon, and evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed. None will long suffer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily cured. Persons afflicted with a seated cough, which breaks them of their rest at night, will find, by taking the CHERRY PECTORAL on going to bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded to thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

Doctor J. C. Ayer: I write to inform you of the truly remarkable effects of your CHERRY PECTORAL in this place, and in my own family. One of my daughters was completely cured in three days of a dreafful Whooprac-Outon by taking it. Dr. Means, one of our very best physicians, freely states that he considers it the best remedy we have for pulmonary diseases, and that he has cured more cases of Caour with it than any other medicine he ever-administered. Protection from Lightning.

Protection from Lightning.

THE undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Spraty's Electrican and Electro-Metallurgest Lightning, Nino-Rod Manufactors, Covington, Kentucky, begs to offer these superior Rods, of Spiral-twisted, Carbonised Annealed Iron, with Zinc Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brass-screw connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolaters, of a novel and ingenious construction, (patented,) forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented,) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thunderstorm, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of sodium, (common salt,) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phil. et Chem.

University of Ga., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly, Prof. ROBT. PETER.

Lexington, Kv., February 20, 1850.

Chicago, September 3, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

Prof. JAS. V. Z. BLANEY.

for my inspection.

AUGUSTA, (GA.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

A. MEANS,
Prof. Phys. Sc., Emory College, Ga., and Prof. Chem. and Pharm., Medical College, Ga.

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith,

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be sery well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best 1 have ever seen.

are the best 1 have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
